

CITY OF CEDAR RAPIDS COUNCIL CHAMBERS

The City of Cedar Rapids recently dedicated their new Council Chamber located in City Hall. This major renovation project transformed an outdated meeting space into a modern City Council facility.

The Council Chamber consists of a formal area for monthly public meetings as well as an informal area for staff and committee meetings. In the formal area, television monitors are used to display images from several computers, two document cameras, a VCR, a DVD player, and two video cameras. In the informal area, the same sources are displayed on a large front projection screen.

A small control room allows remote operation of the video cameras for unobtrusive taping of the council sessions for later television broadcast.
