

AMERICAN CENTURY TOMORROW

American Century is a multi-disciplined investment organization headquartered in Kansas City, Missouri.

CFA has been retained as the acoustical and audio-visual communications consultant for a number of American Century projects in Kansas City as well as in Denver, Colorado, Mountain View, California, and Greenwich, Connecticut. Services have included acoustical recommendations as well as the design and commissioning of AV systems.

The “war room” pictured above offers dual screen images of computer and/or video sources projected onto electronic whiteboard surfaces for interactive use by fund managers and researchers.

Architecturally, the space was designed to allow those in surrounding offices and work spaces to have direct visual contact of the activity in the war room.
